NET SET TO CATCH SUBMERSI-

SHORE LEAVE.

(International News Service)

Washington, Aug. 20.—The ramming and possible sinking of a German submarine by an American steamer near Winter Quarters Shoals off the Virginia coast has been reported by the captain of a steamer, the navy department announced today. The vessel struck the submarine on the port, bringing her alongside the ship. The crew of the submarine then hailed the captain, saying they were friends. "You are no friends of mine," the captain said he replied. He then put his ship on her course and rammed the submarine again, and it is believed she sank.

(International News Service)

Washington, Aug. 20.—The U-boat hunt today had been extended to dry land. Navy department officials generally credited the report that an American seaman had seen in a New York saloon the captain of the submarine on which he had been taken, following the sinking of his vessel off the Atlantic coast. As a result of the report made by the seaman, it became known today that a net is being spread at Atlantic ports that may bring about the capture of the Huns should they again attempt to make shore. The American captain was positive in his identification of the German. In fact, the recognition was mutual, he declared. The American's surprise was responsible for the German's escape.

"I was so surprised that for a moment

I couldn't open my mouth," the officer declared to navy department officials.

"The next minute he had disappeared."

It was learned today that officials for some time have been practically certain that German U-boat commanders were in direct communication with these shores, and that at various times members of the crews had come to shore.

It is now fairly established that the raids off the coast have been conducted by three U-boats, and that they are of the cruising type, having a sailing radius of 17,000 miles. At least one of them is known to be equipped as a cable cutter, following the severing of two southern cables. This is a source of great annoyance to the navy, as the cables have to be raised and re-spliced

when they are once cut.

The damage done by submarines so far has been negligible. A few small vessels have been sent to the bottom, a lightship shelled and two cables cut.

SOLDIER'S TROUSERS AND EFFECTS FOUND ON DECATUR RIVER BRIDGE

Private Chapman May Have Ended Life or Worked a Suicide "Plant."

The body of Private Clyde W. Chapman, Camp Greenleaf, Chickamauga Park, either lies at the bottom of the Tennessee river opposite Decatur, or the young man deposited a suicide "plant" and went on his way rejoicing, according to evidence discovered near the third pier on the north side of the bridge by Bridge Watchman O. L. Brown this morning.

About 10 a. m. today Mr. Brown noticed letters and clothing blowing about on the bridge and others in the waters and notified Chief Riggsbee of the Decatur police force who gathered up the remains which consisted of one shoe, two top shirts, one union suit, six handkerchiefs, one pair of blue pants, one belt with gold buckle on which was engraved the name "Clyde." Several letters addressed to Clyde W. Chapman, Detention Camp, Bn., No. 15, Co. 4, Camp Greenleaf, Chickamauga Park, Ga.

One of the letters written by Clara Phan, and dated Stonewall, Okla., is evidently from a married sister, as a baby's scrawl is enclosed with the following notation written by an older hand: "this is from Clyde to his Uncle Clyde."

No action has been taken by the local police other than to arrange that the sister and the authorities at Chickamauga Park be notified. Chapman's effects will be held pending word from his people.

RAINBOW DIVISION LAUDED IN CITATION BY GENERAL DUPORE

General Order No. 50, in which Gen. Dupore, commanding the Sixth Army Corps, lauds the Rainbow Division, has been received here by Mrs. Otho Humphries, having been forwarded by her husband, Lieut. Humphries, now in an American hospital overseas recovering from wounds he recently received.

The order, in full, follows:

Hq. June 15, 1918.

6th Army Corps.

Staff.

1st Bureau.

No. 3243-1.

General Orders No. 50

At the moment when the 42nd U. S. Infantry Division is leaving the Lorraine front, the commanding general of the 6th Army Corps desires to do homage to the fine military qualities which it has continuously exhibited, and to the services which it has rendered in the Baccarat sector.

The offensive ardor, the sense for the utilization and the organization of terrain as for the liaison of the arms, the spirit of method, the discipline shown by all its officers and men, the inspiration animating them, prove that at the first call, they can henceforth take a glorious place in the new line of battle.

The commanding general of the 6th Army Corps expresses his deepest gratitude to the 42nd Division for its precious collaboration; he particularly thanks the distinguished commander of this division, General Menoher, the officers under his orders and his staff so brilliantly directed by Colonel MacArthur.

It is with a sincere regret that the entire 6th Army Corps sees the 42nd Division depart. But the bonds of affectionate comradeship which have been formed here will not be broken; for us, in faithful memory, are united the living and the dead of the Rainbow Division, those who are leaving for hard combats and those who, after having nobly sacrificed their lives on the land of the East, now rest there, guarded over piously by France.

These sentiments of warm esteem will be still more deeply affirmed, during the impending struggles where the fate of Free Peoples is to be decided.

May our units, side by side, contribute valiantly to the triumph of Justice and of Right:

GENERAL DUPORE,

Commanding the 6th Army Corps.

(Signed) DUPORE.

MADDOO BEFRIENDS THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

The traveling public has a genuine friend in Wm. G. Maddoo, national director of railways, who has issued instructions to all railway employees demanding courtesy in the treatment of passengers. Mr. Maddoo's latest orders state specifically that "the public be damned" policy does not go under his administration, and that civility shall rule on all occasions.

An extract from the order follows: For many years it was popularly believed that "the public be damned" policy was the policy of the railroads under private control. Such a policy is indefensible either under private control or government control. It would be particularly indefensible under public control when railroad employees are the direct servants of the public.

My attention has also been called to the fact that employees have sometimes offered an excuse for their own shortcomings, or as a justification for delayed trains or other difficulties "the statement that 'Uncle Sam is running the railroads now,' or 'These are Maddoo's orders.' Nothing could be more reprehensible than the statements of this character and nothing could be more harmful to the success of the railroad administration and to the welfare of the railroad employees themselves.

The old time railroad official, usually the station agent, was popularly supposed to be retained largely because of his brusqueness in dealing with the patrons of the line from which he received his salary check. He was haughty, curt, unaccommodating. Of late years, however, the crusty type has been largely replaced by affable and obliging men. Many railroads had stressed the fact that their agents should act more as the servants of the people and less as their masters. Government ownership had perhaps allowed some of the constitutional shirkers to relapse to their former ways, and it is these who are warned by Mr. Maddoo. Monopoly, backed by federal authority, is likely to become arrogant and arbitrary. This idea of "imposing their will" upon the helpless is the German philosophy, and Mr. Maddoo does not intend for the American railroad men to emulate the Kaiser or his subjects.

DIZZINESS CAUSES FALL—HEAD INJURED

"A year ago my stomach bloated so badly with gas that I fell unconscious and cut my head badly on corner of door. I had suffered from stomach trouble for several years and no medicine helped me to speak of. A druggist patched up my head and advised me to use Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for my stomach trouble. The results have been really wonderful. I have never had any sign of my former symptoms since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

HAS LEGS BROKEN SO HE CAN ENLIST

PATIENT AT U. P. I. SUBMITS TO UNUSUAL OPERATION TO FIT HIMSELF FOR ARMY.

(Baltimore News.)

Patriotism and a desire to serve their country have moved many men to submit to the knife of a surgeon in order to make themselves physically fit for military service, but not many would-be soldiers have had both legs broken and inclosed in plaster casts for weeks so that they might enlist.

This is the length to which Curtis Gover, 22 years old, of Albany, Ala., was willing to go in order to become a member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. As a result he now is a patient in the Union Protestant Infirmary, both legs in plaster casts from his knees down. He has been there for some time and has several more weary weeks ahead of him before he can walk again without crutches.

Couldn't Keep Him Back.

Gover did not decide upon the operation without making every effort to get into the service with a pair of badly bowed legs—so bent were they that he could walk no great distance without becoming tired. But when the United States entered the war Gover determined that he would get to France.

"I reckon I tried most everything," he told a reporter for The News. "I tried the army and the navy and the aviation corps and everything else I could think of, and I tried 'em all more than once. I was examined 22 times altogether in different recruiting stations, and I passed every examination except for my legs.

"Even in the aviation corps I passed the examination. I told 'em I didn't have to have good legs to fly with, but they thought different, so they turned me down. Then I tried the marines again. Oh! yes, I'd tried 'em before in another station, and the surgeon said my legs let me out.

Suggested a Way.

"But the chap at the last place I tried was pretty nice. He sent me to Paris Island, S. C., for a week, and I went under another examination there. I passed all except for my legs. But the surgeon told me I could have 'em straightened if I was willing to go on the operating table. He said he knew a man in Baltimore who could do the work right, and so I came here."

The surgeon who operated on Mr. Gover declined to allow his name to be used in connection with the case. He said Mr. Gover's condition was thoroughly satisfactory and that in a comparatively short time the young man would be physically fit again.

"My brother is a captain in the Marine Corps," Gover explained, "and I think I'll go back to Paris Island to get in. I was going to Canada to try the Royal Flying Corps before the surgeon down there sent me to Baltimore."

Not a Chance To Be Drafted.

"Drafted? Not a chance! I was called up twice. The first time they turned me down, too, and the second time I was at Paris Island. Say, though, don't write me up much; write up that surgeon. He sure did a wonderful thing with my legs. He took the bones out of 'em and bent 'em straight for me. Write him up; don't say anything about me."

"Don't you think," he was asked "that an example in patriotism like SADIE'S DIP SANS BATHING SUIT COST $5 (International News Service) New York, Aug. 19.—Henry Cunningham, of College Point, wore a bluish which was twenty-four hours old and still showed no sign of fading when he arose in Flushing Court to explain just why he had caused the arrest of Sadie Forman, the defendant at the bar. He told his story in a whisper.

"So you mean to say that the woman went swimming from a public beach without a bathing suit?" summed up Magistrate Kochendorfer.

"I do," said Cunningham firmly. "Without a bathing suit and without, as near as I could see, anything else. She was on the sand at the foot of Eighth avenue, College Point, just—just standing there."

"What did you do?"

"Do? I went for a policeman. He went down to where she was and turned his back decently and told her to get ready so he could arrest her."

Sadie attempted no defense beyond remarking that the day certainly was a sizzling one, and could anybody deny it.

"I don't believe that such behavior is tolerated even in Africa," said the court, and announced that Sadie's dip would cost her $5.

Prohi Amendment Comes Up Monday

(International News Service) Washington, Aug. 20.—Passage of the prohibition amendment to the agriculture bill by the middle of next week with a margin of 15 votes to spare was predicted by dry leaders in the Senate today. The amendment will be called up for action Monday, under the Senate agreement, but may be laid aside temporarily.

"AVOID WEDDINGS AND CUT OUT ROMANCE" SAYS NEW CREED EXPONENT (International News Service) Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 19.—

"Throw away the marriage service! Eliminate the minister! Acquaint yourself with the prospective groom by going through some trial as a test, such as of sickness or of association. Base selection on congeniality. Remain independent. Cut out sentimental romance. Use common sense. Avoid justices of the peace, relatives, weddings. Marry by mutual legal contract acceptable to both parties."

These are some of the ideas of Mrs. T. F. Canavan, formerly Mrs. Madge Wall, as expressed to newspaper reporters following the filing with the recorder of deeds at the Jackson county court house of a legal contract binding herself and her husband to be known as married until "the union is dissolved."

Mrs. Canavan's first marriage was a failure, she declared. After the separation she met Mr. Canavan, and he befriended her during the long sickness and death of her son. The couple met two years ago. The contract was drawn up last spring, but not filed until the husband had to leave for the east to look after some government contract work. The wife is working in a local printing office.

"THE WORLD FOR SALE"

AT THE MASONIC TODAY

A story that breathes the very essence of the out-of-doors and the charm of gypsy lore, together with a love story of unusual interest is Sir Gilbert Parker's "The World for Sale," which was chosen by J. Stuart Blackton for his first release since transferring his activities to Paramount.

The scenes are laid in Canada and deal with the feud between two small townships, one a French Canadian, the other strongly English, as well as with the adventures of Max Ingolby, who is one of the three men in love with charming Fleda Druse, the heroine. How he wins out although handicapped by the temporary loss of his eyesight and the deep hatred of his two rivals, makes a thrilling photoplay which will linger in the memory as a fragrant wholesome breeze from Romance itself. "The World for Sale" is to be shown on today at the Masonic Theatre.

ANOTHER REMARKABLE CURE

trate Plant, Gains Fourteen Pounds in Three Weeks From the Use of Quaker Herb Extract.

Mr. E. J. Stone, Carpenter at the Ni-

This is certainly a remarkable case as Mr. Stone has been a sufferer for the past six years with catarrh of the head. Finally this catarrhal condition worked into the stomach. After much distress, gas accumulations and up-pressure, and "lump of lead feeling" in the pit of the stomach often called indigestion, and feeling poorly for some time, Mr. Stone still felt that he had to work and during the changeable weather he was exposed in going back and forward six miles to Nitrate Plant No. 2, where he is working at carpenter work.

Mr. Stone stated to the Quaker Health Teacher that he had been aware of the catarrhal condition of his head for the past six years; but could not say whether it was a severe cold, or being vaccinated that was causing so much stomach trouble. He said that he had taken various kinds of treatments for his catarrhal condition but that one bottle of Quaker Herb Extract after two weeks' treatment had given him more relief and benefit than all other treatments combined.

He says it is remarkable, with all the ailments that I have had that I have gained 14 pounds in weight and am feeling better today than I have felt in several years, and I heartily recommend Quaker Herb Extract to all persons suffering with catarrh and stomach trouble.

The Quaker Health Teacher can still be seen at the Owl Drug Store, Decatur, Ala., on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and at Thompson's Drug Store, Albany, Ala., on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week. See him at once if you value good health.

Quaker Herb Extract is $1.00 per bottle; during sale, three for $2.50. Quaker Oil of Balm, kills pain, 2¢ and 5¢. Free samples given.

DAILY ADS PAY
DAILY ADS PAY*HERMAN L. TURNER
IN STRONG SERMON*BOY PREACHER HEARD SUNDAY AT WILLOUGHBY CHURCH.

"Twenty hundred years ago the blackness of midnight came at midday. Six weary hours hung over all the land. Out of the blackness a hill arose and on the hill a cross and on the cross a man. That is what leadership meant to the Savior yonder on the cross on the lonely hill. Four years ago again the blackness of midnight came at noon day. It was a surprise and a shock to us all. 'Twas the black angel of death back yonder; it was the black eagles of German imperialism 'over there.' Out of the blackness 'over there' another hill arose. We call it Calvary yonder; we call it Kemmel 'over there.' You readily see the contrast of leadership. The Kaiser wanted to destroy mankind; our Savior wished and still wishes to save it! The church and the nation is calling today for men and women who have a vision of their task, a burning passion to serve; men and women who know God and themselves, and who are willing to make the sacrifice. Shall I say it? Too often we find leadership, hide-bound, hand-cuffed and ankle-fettered with selfishness and egotism.

In the above language Herman L. Turner closed a remarkable sermon at the Willoughby Presbyterian Church Sunday night. The number present was large considering the heat—a tribute to the popularity of the local boy preacher. Mrs. W. R. Alexander led the song service and played the organ accompaniments. The following elders led in prayer: Frank Lewis, W. R. McCluskey and Mr. Garnett. At the morning service Mr. Turner preached on the "Christian's Secret of a Joyful Life." His sermon of Sunday night which was on "Leadership," was in part as follows:

Text: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." 2 Timothy, 2:15.

A Chinese statesman said there are three kinds of people in the world, namely: The people that can't be moved; the people that can be moved; the people that can move those who can be moved. Here we find the leader. This is a great day of leadership with its tremendous responsibilities. This is not an hour of despair, but an hour of challenge; this is not an hour for the soft and tender foot-step, but for the firm and courageous tramp, tramp, tramp; this is not an hour for weak knees and limp and hanging arms and hands. This is an hour for the eye to look keen, the teeth to clench tight and the first to close firm; this is an hour which challenges the biggest and best that is in every man; this is an hour when we should all either "work or fight;" this is an hour for clear vision, strong courage, firm resolution and heroic service.

While the boys fight in France to rid the world of autocracy, there is autocracy in the leadership of today—leadership in graft, when it should be leadership in service.

First, leadership consists of vision. We must have a clear conception of our task. Without a vision we cannot do anything. Solomon said: "Where there is no vision the people perish." Abraham Lincoln saw the slaves sold and mistreated before the markets of New Orleans, and that day he called God to witness the scene. A vision was kindled in his heart and has since meant a blessing to mankind. Likewise with Clarkson of Cambridge who prepared an essay on the question of slavery, he also got a vision, and helped to rid England of this peril. I am sure we can subscribe to this creed: Whatsoever is wrong cannot be eternal; whatsoever is right cannot be imposed.

A DAGGER
IN THE BACK

That's the woman's dread when she gets up in the morning to start the day's work. "Oh, now my back aches." GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules taken today ease the backache of tomorrow—taken every day ends the backache for all time. Don't delay. What's the use of suffering? Begin taking GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules today and be relieved tomorrow. Take three or four every day and be permanently free from wrenching, distressing back pain. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Since 1896 GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been the National Remedy of Holland, the Government of the Netherlands having granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale. The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without bread as she would without her "Real Dutch Drops," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This is the one reason why you will find the women and children of Holland so sturdy and robust.

GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original Haarlem Oil Capsules imported direct from the laboratories in Haarlem, Holland. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Look for the name on every box. Sold by reliable druggist in sealed packages, three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you. Accept only the GOLD MEDAL. All others are imitations. (Adv.)

sible; what ought to be can be. Evidently this is President Wilson's vision. He has said: "Autocracy is wrong; Democracy is right." The wrong must lose; the right will win. A wild beast crowded to the corner fights desperately and autocracy is today making its last desperate, but losing, fight. After this old war is over we must have a better world. Wonderful opportunities for leadership. I would rather be a boy of eighteen in the year 1918 than to have ever lived before. We are living in a brand new age. A very few of us saw the sun rise this morning; we were unconscious of its coming. A new era has slipped in and most of us were quite as unconscious of its coming as we were of the rising of the sun.

"We are living, we are dwelling in a grand and awful time, in an age on ages telling, and to be living is sublime."

And if any man wants to see the America into which he was born or the Alabama of his childhood, he must look before the sun reaches high noon tomorrow.

Second, leadership must have a passion to accomplish the vision which has been wrought in our minds and hearts. Livingston had a passion to help the inhabitants of the dark and benighted continent of Africa, and he gave all. Every few days you hear this question asked: When will the war end? I do not know, but this I do know that the passion of the American people is to win this war, whether it takes one year, one million men, two years, two million men, ten years, ten million men and a hundred billion dollars, America is in and will stay in until we win.

Third, leadership must have knowledge. The prayer of the old saint cannot be prayer too often: "Make me to know Thee. Make me to know myself." What a change if the leaders of the church and world today could get a true conception of that prayer. As I know myself I sympathize with others.

In conclusion, leadership is full of sacrifice. There must be self renunciation. We should seek results. Remember there will be criticisms and if you stand aside for the criticisms, the critic is correct. Jealousy will prevail. There will be hours of loneliness. Many sacrifices to make. Are you willing to pay the price?

War Activities Broadened

The Nation's war activities have been broadened by the creation of many new National and State departments outside of Washington, requiring a large number of private branch exchanges and other telephone facilities which have been provided by the Bell System.

Additional telephone facilities have also been supplied to permanent military establishments, such as Army Posts, Navy Yards, etc., and new or additional telephone equipment has been provided at many of the Naval Officers' Reserve, Embarkation and Aviation Camps.

The proximity of Training Camps, Army Posts, Navy Yards, etc., has necessitated the enlargement of local switchboards and central office equipment at many points, as well as additions to the toll line facilities.

All these centers of war activity now have ample telephone facilities, by which the constantly increasing war traffic is cared for adequately at all times, and close co-operation maintained with the directing forces at Washington.
